CIGNA International Expands Network of Health Care Professionals in Malaysia

CLAYMONT, Del., May 04, 2009 - CIGNA (CI) International Expatriate Benefits (CIEB) has expanded its network in Malaysia to include 70 new doctors and hospitals, growing its already extensive network. CIEB offers access to a network of more than 90,000 global health care professionals, delivering unprecedented access to care worldwide.

The network in Malaysia is part of CIGNALinks[®], CIEB's specialized solution to health care coverage for expatriates living and working in countries where government regulations or tax implications may affect benefit and health care offerings. CIGNALinks[®] provides individuals with access to health care and the added benefit of cost savings through alliances with local insurers.

To further assist people, the Malaysian network offers a direct pay option, providing the convenience of cashless settlements of claims. Health care professionals are strategically located in areas with a high concentration of expatriates, such as the capital city, Kuala Lumpur, to further facilitate access to health care. Plans are currently underway to expand the network to at least 100 additional Malaysian clinics.

“As a carrier with one of the broadest international networks, CIEB's ongoing strategy is to continuously expand the access to care and offer a growing selection of direct pay health care professionals, delivering value to the more than 300,000 individuals currently covered by CIEB,” said Sonny Patel, vice president of CIGNA's Global Health Solutions.
